

Applation - Your Partner for Success

Special Discounts on IBM Education Packs

The IBM Education pack is designed to meet your IBM training and certification needs with flexibility and simplicity.

The Education Pack is an electronic account that you can use to purchase IBM Training's public or onsite class offerings and IBM technical conferences in the U.S. You may also purchase IBM Self-Paced virtual classes with this account.

Managing your firm's training budget has never been easier. You lock in training dollars now and can use them for a full year of IBM education and training. And you can add funding as needed to boost your account balance, helping to make vital training and certification available when employees need it.
